OCTOBER 2, 1889.

THE [illegible] will be laying on the Rock Island will cross the bridge at Falcon on Thursday.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union office for L D Ament and Fred H Meserve

The First M E church society contemplates an addition to the church building which will have a seating capacity of about two hundred

Hon E O Wolcott and Judge J D Ward have been assigned by the republican state central committee to speak on this city on the evening of October 24

Mr Harmon Green, traveling salesman for J S Nelson & Son, one of the best boot and shoe manufacturers in the country visited friends in this city over Sunday

Manager Beach of the telephone company has offered the free use of the coast pay patches in this city in case it is decided to adopt the fire alarm system proposed

The annual meeting of the Woman's exchange will be held in the First Methodist church at 3 o'clock this afternoon. All members and those interested are requested to attend.

The date fixed for the running of the first passenger train into this city over the Rock Island road is November 4 A train of vestibule cars will be run through to Chicago without change

A number of handsome articles of silverware and a gold headed cane, which will be raffled at the Catholic fair on the 23d inst., are now on exhibition at Good speed's jewelry store, on Tejon street

The proceeds of the entertainment given by the G A R boys this evening at the Congregational church will go into the relief fund of the order after paying the necessary outlay for Mr. Burbank and Sunday expenses.

City Clerk McCreery and wife returned from their trip to the Pacific coast on Sunday. They report a pleasant time and a most successful meeting of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, which Mr McCreery went especially to attend.

In order to secure Haverly's Minstrels for a return engagement next Friday evening Manager Nye was compelled to guarantee them a large sum. He will play the engagement at popular prices A change of programme will be given

Mr St John has purchased the news stand, stock and business on North Tejon street adjoining Roby's feed store of Mr S Brown and will continue to keep a full supply of all the daily, weekly and monthly publications, including the DAILY GAZETTE.

At Colorado City, on Sunday, a man by the name of Newman, while fooling around the M. E. [illegible] was struck by a switch engine, his right foot being badly cut and mashed. He was taken to the county hospital and the county physician dressed his wounds. He is quite seriously injured the physician thinks

There is war between the Chinamen located on Nevada avenue near the city hall. Quong Wah has run a laundry on that block for some time and now Charley Ah has started one alongside of him. Among the Chinamen in San Francisco it is an unwritten law that there shall be but one laundry on a block, and Quong thinks it should hold good here, but Charley says not, hence the trouble

The series of entertainments to be given at the Baptist church beginning October 9th, and already announced in these columns, bids fair to be very popular. The tickets were placed on sale at Robinson's drug store and the Consolidated Book store on Saturday and nearly half are gone already. The number of tickets has been limited to 250 and persons desiring to attend will do well to secure them immediately.

Alfred P Burbank, the famous reader, will give one of his unequalled performances at the Congregational church this evening for the benefit of the G A R post of this city. Mr. Burbank will undoubtedly be greeted by a large audience. Among the selections will be a number of war pieces especially chosen for the occasion. Following is the programme.

PART I.

Father Phil's Colored Troops	Lover
She Comes [illegible]	Texas Siftings
A Serenade	Wade Whipple

The committee having in charge the [illegible] has decided to use the old Presbyterian church on the corner of North Weber and Kiowa streets, and has already begun to make preparations for the opening which will probably be on Wednesday evening October 16th. Mr. Frank T Lent will have charge of the gallery and will be found at the exhibition continually to give information and act as general manager. There will be about two hundred paintings and some fifty or more etchings etc. The gallery will be lighted by a powerful electric light by night and will be tastefully decorated for the occasion. There will be an exhibition catalogue with an introduction by Prof Parrish which will illustrate one of the exhibits. The catalogue will also represent instructive foot notes as it may also include several pen and ink sketches reproduced as illustrations

Persons going to Pueblo during the state fair should take the Denver and Rio Grande railway excursion train leaving Colorado Springs on Tuesday morning. For round trip rate of $1.25 the road will give passengers the opportunity of visiting the great exhibition. [illegible] years experience with the best water fixtures corresponding to the Mayflower addition of our own city. The offer of the management to give away to [illegible] $2 gold pieces and for making the sale in addition to the [illegible] of a very good instrument were tempting. Many of [illegible] have already signified their intention to join the excursion

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE & LOANS

NO. 9 NORTH TEJON STREET.

We represent only OLD-TIME, first-class, reliable INSURANCE COMPANIES—companies that expect to PAY A LOSS when it occurs, so that we can guarantee to all cases a PROMPT, EQUITABLE and SATISFACTORY adjustment of loss should a fire occur. This is worthy of consideration.

IN REAL ESTATE we control and offer only the most desirable properties, as we find that SUCH PROPERTIES ONLY give satisfaction. We give a partial list below to which we invite attention. NOW IS THE TIME TO INVEST, as with the fall months, the opening of the "Rock Island" and other roads there is bound to be a much greater advance. CALL AND SECURE a home now.

We are agents for LOTS IN BOULDER HEIGHTS ADDITION and only ask of strangers and others that they look at these lots before buying elsewhere. They are the CHOICE HILL of our city and SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. We also have lots WEST COLORADO SPRINGS, WEST BLUFF, Parrish's Addition etc for parties who wish to invest in that locality. Also FIRE, FIVE and TEN acre tracts.

The Maine election is the most satisfactory we have held in a good while. Every party has won a victory, and it makes certain the election of Cleveland and Harrison.

Before the end of the week we shall hear the whistle of the engines on the Rock Island. The wise capitalist will see that he is well loaded with real estate in anticipation of the event.

The republican central committee is showing great energy in the holding of public meetings. There is not much need of such work in this city, however, as there is no wavering among the republicans. Harrison and Cooper will have the full vote.

The statue of the late Earl of Shaftesbury has not been placed in Westminster Abbey because the necessary £250 has not been paid to the dean. This is a reproach on the people of England. Anybody was the Earl [illegible] purest minded man of our generation Westminster would be honored in preserving his memory.

We print two more letters on the dust question. We think that one of the writers is mistaken in saying that our merchants think the expense of sprinkling the streets should be borne by the invalids. The merchants generally appreciate the fact that most of our prosperity is due to the invalid class and that ordinary business considerations would dictate that we should do that which will give the invalids the best results of the climate. All the sprinkling was done and paid for directly by the merchants. Heretofore it has been thought that we should be compelled to use water carts and the city could hardly afford to pay for watering the whole city. But now a plan has been suggested that will not be so expensive and it should be tried. The invalids should be heard on this subject.

HARRISON ON TEMPERANCE.

On the 26th of November last General Harrison addressed his friends and neighbors at Danville, Indiana, on the subject of temperance. This address covered in a very definite way the whole subject of temperance, both as a moral and political question. This speech should be satisfactory to the most ardent friend of temperance. There is no attempt to strade any of the issues. What he says shows also that he is a wise man. He has put himself in an impregnable position which should secure him the respect of every friend of morality in the country and the hearty support of every friend of the saloon. We print the speech in full hoping that it may be read with good effect by those who propose to vote the third party ticket.

[illegible] we Presbyterians to the effect that we should be intemperate in all things. The apostle had not got just to temperance.

Now what is this temperance on liquor question? Primarily, to me, it is a question that takes on a moral aspect. It is the question of the all-pervading, universal obedience to law, as law by every body. [Great applause.] That is the first and broadest consideration. I say absolute universal obedience to law as law without [illegible] when I think or you think of the law.

And yet were that only ground to make [illegible] I would not believe in [illegible] upon my conscience and my judgment, which would [illegible] standing for law and [illegible] solemn attempt of the [illegible] to dominate and rule the politics, but to elect such men as any of who had the courage to put work [illegible] sentiment in their power—here where they [illegible] stated the law we found [illegible] conference [illegible] voting an indictment [illegible] helping indirectly to elect such men as [illegible] have [illegible] laws.

Thank God there were [illegible] of them to succeed. I [illegible] as the purpose at all of [illegible] but to vindicate the [illegible] Gathering from this council of the law and order people some [illegible] might have been necessary to prevent the [illegible] of law, was to [illegible] the cause of peace, order [illegible] My countrymen! I believe that the question of enforcing the laws is [illegible] importance now that it has been before for in our country. We have been [illegible] less thoughtless as we saw the [illegible] of the law going on from day to day, but the nation has been startled into action by the fact that its only safety, the only anchor it has out on the sea of social order and [illegible] is in the enforcement of the law.

What was it that culminated at Chicago less than two years ago on the day when the grandsons of the [illegible] here in [illegible] Where did this red flower find its seed? It was as I believe in that defiant, persistent violation of law upon which we have evaded and [illegible] recently. The paper now [illegible] My first proposition on the temperance question is, that so long as the law [illegible] it is, whether you like it or like it we shall still stand together and declare that the law shall be enforced. [Great applause.]

Now, I know there are some in [illegible] who seem to me in the greatly misguided—who say we don't care about the law being enforced, we would rather have free whisky than taxed whisky we would rather the saloon should be open and unrestrained would rather that the violations of order taught be increased and multiplied, because thereby we hope to awaken the people to a future [illegible] of the evil of this thing and then secure state prohibition. I hope no friend here takes that ground. If you do, you find yourself in bad company and [illegible] consequences following hard after you.

Stand rather as all good men should stand, for the rigid enforcement without fear or favor of every statute upon the statute books. That is a good start. And when this principle is well established, and you stand with us now for it, we will stand with you when you get a law that suits you better, and you will have a sentiment that will back it up, but if you don't stand with us now, but encourage in any way, directly or indirectly, the spirit of lawlessness, in what will you appeal when you get the law you want?

I want to say this further: There may have been a time in the past when the republican party of Indiana [illegible] Land with the liquor interests, but I beg to say to all who hear me to-day, that when the platform of the last state convention was read and received with cheers by the great masses who heard it any alliance between the republican party and the liquor league was severed once and forever, great applause. When the resolution fell from the lips of the chairman of the committee on resolutions, a tramp was sounded that will never call retreat.

Why? Simply for the reason I have already given the Legal League is an organization framed to defy the law and, therefore, we are against it and it is against us. [Applause.] And yet notwithstanding this and notwithstanding the fact that whenever you open the robe in which the democratic party [illegible] you see some liquor league boodle sticking out, there are those who, like my friend the Methodist brother South, have got past temperance, and are third party men who make it welkin ring with the cry, "Smash the republican party." Well, that is not the cry likely to draw republicans into your party.

Before me to-day is a great body of republicans young and old full of faith in the old party, who believe it was raised under God, wrought out the best things that were ever achieved by any political organization, who believe that it has in it yet high, capacities, and who are not unduly disposed when anybody says, Smash the republican party, Applause. If you want to persuade us you will have to [illegible] And what next? Why do you want to smash the republican party? Does the third party carry over the Liquor league? No, my countrymen! Now hereforth as not before, the third party carries from the Liquor league, and the point of its spear is toward that enemy of law and order.

Why is it we do not hear from our pedal-toe friends the cry, Smash the democratic party? Why is it when the campaign is on that the democratic party is weeping because at the same time a liquor league and a third party [illegible] Surely because the [illegible] to withdraw from the republican party by the third party movement enough votes to continue the liquor league and [illegible] power. Does will leave the streets of [illegible] and [illegible] should well faithfully enter these words [illegible] Applause.

[illegible] believe and I believe that among the best of [illegible] third party workers for prohibition [illegible] deserted faithful [illegible] and women. But, my friends, is there a little fear [illegible] the republican party [illegible] sounds [illegible] to [illegible] confronts this organized [illegible] affect so much [illegible] prohibitory party? [illegible] should hear the [illegible] [illegible] came in our front [illegible] carpets and from [illegible] coat of [illegible] path produced [illegible] refer to the [illegible] Second [illegible] purpose.]
